

BIGGER FREIGHT HOUSE IS NEEDED

Interstate Company to Enlarge Facilities for Handling Business in That Department.

MAY PURCHASE NEW LOCATION

Rumors Afloat in Traction Circles That General Offices May Be Moved to This City.

Because of the increased amount of interurban freight and express business handled in Seymour, the Interstate Public Service Company is understood to have under consideration the construction of a new freight house in this city. The freight department at the present time is located at the rear of the passenger station on East Second street and is not only inconvenient for loading and unloading shipments but is entirely too small for the growing volume of business. Until recently the traction company made no effort to expand its freight business, but during the last two or three years more cars have been purchased and an effort has been put forth to increase the department.

Seymour is a central freight point as many shipments are made here over the railroads and then transferred for north or south delivery by traction. The freight and express direct to Indianapolis or Louisville and intervening points is growing rapidly. The purchase of the road from this city to Sellersburg by the Interstate Company means that the freight department will be given even more attention than in the past. Direct shipments can be made and it is understood that within a short time a large number of through cars are to be operated.

It is likely that if the company decides to build a new freight house it will be located somewhere along the traction line, instead of enlarging the present quarters. Storage room is also required and the company, it is said, expects to build a freight house that will meet the needs of the company for some years to come. Several sites are under consideration, it is stated, and a choice is to be made soon. Work on the new building will start within a few months, it is understood.

It is rumored in traction circles that the Interstate Company expects to move some of its general offices to this city. This is the central point between Indianapolis and Louisville and the logical place for the administrative and executive offices. It is expected that in a short time the transmission line from the company's power station at Williams to this city will be in operation and the electrical energy for the operation of the traction line will be secured from the hydraulic station. It is said that the voltage on the line that extends between Seymour and Indianapolis will be made to conform with that on the system between Seymour and Louisville. The latter section of the traction line has a voltage of 1,200 while the north section is operated on just half that current. When that change is made all the cars may be operated through from Indianapolis to Louisville.

OVERHEAD SYSTEM HERE INSPECTED

Plan to Remove Poles from Streets Outlined to Representative of Interstate Company.

PART OF "WHITE WAY" PROJECT

Original Survey Provides for the Anchoring of Trolley Support Wires to Buildings.

W. H. Jennings, superintendent of overhead construction, for the Interstate Public Service Company, was here today conferring with the committee in charge of the proposed construction of a post lighting system in the business district, relative to the removal of trolley poles from the streets in which the improvement is to be made. The committee, of which Claude Carter is chairman, outlined the plans for the proposed improvement and explained what changes will be needed so that it can be carried out.

Mr. Jennings said that before the trolley poles can be removed a number of conditions would have to be taken in consideration. Before the trolley support wires can be anchored to the buildings, as proposed by the committee, it must first be determined how much pull there will be on each wire and whether or not the support will be sufficient to keep the trolley wire in place. The committee is anxious to have as many of the poles removed as possible and if the company feels it necessary to retain some poles they will probably be located.

OIL PROSPECTS LOOK FAVORABLE TO GEOLOGIST

Representative of State Geological Department Pleased With Findings in Western Part of County.

Otis Hayes, of Brownstown township, was in the city today transacting business and reported that the representative of the state geological department who has been making a survey in the western part of the county for several days past in an effort to determine whether or not there is profitable oil was well pleased with his findings. It will be remembered that while drilling for water on the Hayes farm several weeks ago some oil was found and investigations have caused residents of that section to believe that oil can be found there. Mr. Hayes stated that the findings of the geologist have been such as to cause him to call two other representatives from the state geological department to help him complete his survey. They are expected to arrive the latter part of the week. Residents of that section of the county are anxiously awaiting the final report of the geologists.

PRESIDENT URGES SENATE TO ACTION

Wilson Says Delay in Ratification of Treaty is Detriment to the United States.

CONFERS WITH COMMITTEE

Says Doubtful Provisions Mean Exactly What the Senate Wants Them to Mean.

By United Press

Washington, August 19—The senate must accept the peace treaty and the league of nation covenant as they stand or reject them completely, President Wilson told the senate foreign relations committee at the white house today. There can be neither amendment nor reservation in the ratification resolution if the senate avoid sending the contract back both to the allies and Germany for reconstruction and acceptance, he said. The President added, however, with reference to article ten:

"I do hope that we are at liberty contemporaneously without acceptance of the treaty to interpret our moral obligations under that article."

In a prepared statement to the committee, the president declared also that there could be reasonable objections or interpretations accompanying the act of ratifications, providing they do not form a part of the ratification resolution.

Meeting a rapid fire of most searching questions which went into minute details upon the drawing up of his plan for a league of nations, the president answered every inquiry very promptly.

The president made a long statement in which he said that a readjustment of our national life to normal depends upon getting the treaty out of the way.

That until it is out of the way the mines, factories and business of the country, both domestic and foreign, will be at a disadvantage.

That the nations that have ratified the treaty will get the "jump" on the United States in a trade way. That the only obstacle which appears to stand in the way of immediate ratification is doubt about the meaning of certain provisions of the league of nations.

That there is no doubt in the minds of those who wrote the covenant that the so-called doubtful provisions mean exactly what the United States senate wants them to mean.

The president denounced the effect of reservations of article ten, the Monroe Doctrine, withdrawal and domestic questions.

EXTENSION OF ACT REMAINS IN DOUBT

Senate Agricultural Committee to Vote on Attorney General's Request Today.

INVESTIGATION CONTINUED

Hearings on Kenyon and Kendrick Packer Bill Postponed Until Tuesday.

By United Press

Washington, Aug. 19—Action on legislation to reduce the cost of living is expected today when the senate agricultural committee plans to vote on Attorney General Palmer's request for broadening of the food control act.

Hearings on the Kenyon and Kendrick packer bills were suspended until tomorrow, when packers will appear.

"I doubt very much whether the amendments will be reported out by the committee," Chairman Gronna said today.

"A majority seem opposed to them. It is possible, however, that they may be modified by exempting farm organizations from proposed penalties."

The amendments would extend the food control act to cover clothing and would add a heavy penalty for profiteering. Farmers contended their organizations might be held liable under conspiracy clauses of the act.

The house agricultural committee also plans to change radically Palmer's suggestions for amendment to the food control act.

Chairman Hagen today will submit amendments to the food control act which will provide for the procurement of the way.

LOCAL PETITION TO BE HEARD SHORTLY

State Commission to Deal Separately With Rate Cases of Indiana Telephone Companies.

DECISION IS REACHED TODAY

Schedules Instituted Under Government Control to Remain Until Hearings Are Conducted.

By United Press

That the Indiana public service commission will soon review the petition of the Seymour Mutual Telephone Company for an adjustment of rates in this city, is the belief of L. C. Griffiths, president, who was notified today that the commission had decided to take up each of the rate cases separately. The commissioners were in session yesterday afternoon and this morning, it is stated, discussing how the matter should be determined and shortly before noon reached a decision to determine each case on its merits. The commission had under consideration the plan of withdrawing all rates instituted under government control and to regard them as null and void until the cases were heard.

A dispatch to The Republican from Indianapolis this afternoon says:

"The task of determining what rates shall be charged by Indiana telephone companies for service as a result of the act of congress returning the wires to their owners, has been started by the public service commission, Chairman E. I. Lewis stated today. Hearing on petitions of independent companies will start next month and hearings on Bell Telephone Company petitions will follow thereafter."

According to the information which was received by Mr. Griffiths, from Charles Edwards, special representative of the local company, definite decision had been reached. Mr. Griffiths said that the Bicknell telephone petition which has been pending for some time will be taken up next week, according to information reaching him. The local company holds the controlling interest in the Bicknell company.

Griffiths stated that Mr. Edwards informed him that the commission had decided to start the investigations without delay and to employ additional examiners and accountants to go over the records and files of the several companies who instituted higher rates under the government regime, and prepare for hearings at which the rights of the companies will be determined.

The petition of the local company for a readjustment of rates was filed last October and is one of the oldest on file before the commission, Mr. Griffiths stated. The commission expects to take up the petitions in the order they were filed, it is understood.

Standing Orders Held by Him Permits Such Punitive Expedition When the "Trail is Hot."

CHASE NOT TO CONTINUE LONG

Lieutenants Peterson and Davis Act Guide Troopers to Headquarters of The Bandits.

By United Press

El Paso, Tex., August 19—The eight American cavalry crossed into Mexico below Candelbras early today in search of the Mexican bandits who released Lieutenants Peterson and Davis for a ransom of $15,000. Air planes are scouting with the cavalry in efforts to pick up the bandits' trail.

Col. Langhorne sent the American troops across the Mexican line in accordance with his standing orders from the war department, authorizing such punitive expedition, when he had a "hot trail."

This was the ninth crossing by Langhorne's men after Mexican raiders during the past two years. There is no undue activity among the American armed forces here and General Erwin, district commander, had received no intimation from Washington that any movement into Mexico on a large scale would take place.

The hunt in the "bad lands" is expected to be over today and the pursuing troops should be back on the American side tonight, according to military officials here.

Lieutenants Peterson and Davis joined the American troops and acted as guides in the chase, according to unofficial advices reaching here.

LIEUTENANTS ARE ON AMERICAN SOIL

Peterson and Davis, Held by Mexican Bandits for $15,000 Ransom, Are Liberated.

By United Press

El Paso, Tex., August 19—Lieutenant Harold Peterson and Paul Davis, set free by Mexican bandits on payment of $15,000 ransom, arrived on the American side of the order early today, according to reports from Marfa, Tex.

Capt. Matlack, of the Eighth United States cavalry, carried the ransom money to the bandits' camp, returning with Davis while Peterson preceded them. The ransom money raised by private subscription in the vicinity of Marfa reached Candelaria, opposite the bandits' hiding place, last night. Capt. Matlack in charge of small squad of cavalrymen, escorting the vice-president of the Marfa with the money, carried the ransom across the border alone. The givers of the ransom will be reimbursed by the United States government, according to word here from Major General Dickman, commanding the southern department.

TWO SPECIAL Columbia Records

"July the First" naturally hits Bert Williams hard (that is speaking metaphorically, in the lyrics of the screaming song farce, "Everybody Wants a Key to My Cellar.") You remember the inimitable Bert sang sometime ago, a comedy hit, "Everybody" (Columbia record A-1909.) It is the same "Everybody" now, who wants the key to his cellar, and it is Bert's time to get even and exclaim "They can have my wife, if they want to go that far, but they can't have the key that opens my cellar if the whole darn world goes dry." Everyone who knows Williams knows what an opportunity this song gives him. It is the record of the day, there is no doubt about it.

Also "Beautiful Ohio" and "Till we Meet Again" by the Kalamazoo Hawaiian Orchestra, set in waltz time that has a witchery all its own.

JOINT SANITARIUM.

The commissioners of Adams, Huntington and Wells counties are considering the proposal to erect a joint sanitarium for the treatment of tubercular patients. These are adjoining counties and a centrally located institution of this character could be conducted to the advantage of the entire community on a very economical scale. The expense to each county would be considerably less than if each maintained a separate hospital.

The spread of tuberculosis has become so rapid that health authorities agree that the federal, state and local governments must cooperate to combat it. The disease is the cause of a tremendous human wastage annually. Many communities throughout the country are already taking steps to fight it. There is no question but that if the efforts are directed in the right way the spread of the disease will be checked and many of those who are suffering with it may be nursed back to health. Tuberculosis is no longer regarded as an incurable disease when it is treated at the proper time. It is a disease that requires special treatment and this can only be given effectively in hospitals and sanitariums which are equipped for that service.

The joint hospital proposed by the three northern Indiana counties would be a progressive step in combating tuberculosis. Several counties have under consideration the erection of such hospitals and the plan of several counties cooperating with each other may furnish a solution for localities that do not feel financial able to maintain their own institutions.

If we keep on progressing by asking for automatic appliances and higher wages, all we will have to do in the future is to set the automatic check writer in motion just before pay day.

NAVAL BOATS DO PERILOUS WORK

Yanks Are Clearing Mine Field
200 Miles Long and 45
Miles Wide.

MAKE NORTH SEA SAFE AGAIN

Task Almost as Dangerous and, From Viewpoint of Shipping, as Important as Hunting Submarines.

London.—Eighty United States navy mine sweepers are busy in the North sea on a job almost as dangerous and, from the viewpoint of shipping, quite as important, as hunting submarines.

They are clearing away the largest mine barrage in the world. This barrage, nearly 80 per cent American-made and American-laid mines, is about 200 miles long and 45 miles wide. It closes the North sea from Scotland to Norway.

The task has already resulted in a casualty toll of four vessels damaged, one officer killed and others wounded. The U. S. S. Bobolink, the first victim, had her stern blown in by an exploding mine. Lieutenant Bruce was killed. Several other officers and men, knocked overboard, were rescued. The U. S. S. Patuxent was badly damaged about the stern and the U. S. S. Rail slightly damaged. All were of about 1,000 tons. The fourth was a smaller boat.

Captain Sexton, United States naval chief of staff in England, said the Americans are getting "hep" to the undertaking and overcoming many of its difficulties.

Thus far the fleet has covered an area containing 4,000 mines. Of these 45 per cent have been accounted for. Where the remaining 65 per cent are nobody knows. Captain Sexton estimated the mine hunt would keep the sweepers busy until October or November. It involves a personnel of about 2,500.

When the word was first mouthed around through the ranks that American gobs were going to pick up the mines they helped to lay a short time before, the general opinion was that it would be one of the most thrilling jobs yet. And no one has been disappointed. Equipped with maps showing approximately where every mine was dropped, the flotilla started out in twos, each pair dragging a cable between them.

Mines Sown in Strings.

The mines, the map said, were sown in strings. All the sweepers had to do was to straddle the line, pass from one end to the other, and the cable, between them, would do the rest.

Of course, the particular mine in question wouldn't be the only one to go off. The concussion would always set off others immediately adjoining, and probably still others adjoining these. These two exigencies were provided for on the map under the titles "zone of extreme danger," "zone of possible danger," and beyond that "zone of safety." In addition, there would be a few other mines free-lancing around in all three zones.

The first few days were rather disastrous. Captain Sexton and his staff in London began to dread opening the morning's dispatches. Gradually, with Yankee resourcefulness, the Americans seemed to be getting on top of the job, until now Captain Sexton is confident they are going to clean up the assignment with minimum losses.

MAN DIES FROM BITE OF CAT

Aged Pennsylvania Farmer Takes Pasteur Treatment, but Hydrophobia Comes.

Pittsburgh.—Although he had received the Pasteur treatment in Mercy hospital here, Levi Kurtz, aged seventy-one, a farmer of Enon Valley, died of hydrophobia in Providence Hospital, Beaver Falls, from the bite of a cat which clung to him so tenaciously that it had to be hacked to death to release the farmer's hand.

Hearing a commotion in his chicken coop several weeks ago, Kurtz investigated and found a cat chasing the chickens. As he tried to seize the animal it turned on him and sank its teeth deep in the flesh of his left hand. The farmer struck the cat with his free hand, but was unable to dislodge it. Neighbors responded to a call for help, but they failed to force the animal's jaws apart until one man severed its head with an axe.

Kurtz, fearing hydrophobia, came here and remained two weeks, taking the Pasteur treatment. He was discharged, supposedly immune, at the end of that time.

"BOLSHEVISM ON TRIAL"

Based on Dixon's "Comrades"

"Bolshevism on Trial," Select Pictures' tremendous special production—the timeliest picture ever screened—which will be seen tonight at the Majestic Theatre, is based on Thomas Dixon's popular novel "Comrades."

Mr. Dixon is numbered among the greatest novelists of the day and his books have one of the largest circulations in this country. Two of the finest pictures the screen has ever had—"The Birth of a Nation" and "The One Woman," the latter also a Select Special, were both adapted from Mr. Dixon's novels of the same names.

The basic story from which "Bolshevism on Trial" was fabricated is contained in Mr. Dixon's successful novel, "Comrades," but the story has been adapted and developed so as to meet the present international situation. The story that is told on the screen is an intensely human and thrilling drama of Americans of the average type. "Bolshevism on Trial" is not a war picture and has no war scenes in it, the closest approach being the rapid fire gun of a United States Navy Coast Patrol boat which is called into action. The scenes are laid in a community on this side of the Atlantic—not in Europe. The men and women who find themselves soon engulfed in the vortex of a titanic struggle are such men and women as can be gathered into a convention hall in any American city. There is a love story, of course—for there is a beautiful and charming girl and a clean-cut young man of high ideals—and the situation is inevitable. But aside from the human touches vivify and lighten the intensely dramatic subject through the entire picture, there is one, big, moving, driving theme which pushes steadily on from start to finish, and that is the struggle of Bolshevism to assert itself and to dominate—and itself ultimate defeat.

How to Tell Precious Stones.

If you put a small drop of water on the upper face of a brilliant and touch it with the point of a pencil the drop will keep its rounded form, but the stone will remain clean and dry. In the case of an imitation the drop immediately spreads out.

Plunge a diamond into water, and it will be plainly visible and will glitter through the liquid; but an imitation stone is almost invisible. If you look through a diamond, as through a bit of glass, at a black dot on a sheet of white paper, you will see one single point clearly. If you see several points or a blur of black it is an imitation.

"Bolshevism on Trial" is the thrilling story of how an American community could be laid waste and prostrate like bleeding Russia.

Captain Norman Worth, formerly a member of the Lafayette Escadrille becomes interested in a plan to buy the island of Ventura as a site for a Socialistic community. His father, unknown to him, rents the island to him for one dollar a year. Socialism becomes Bolshevism, with all its envy, greed and lawlessness, resulting in the immediate need for the calling out of American troops. The Red Flag is taken down and the Stars and Stripes flies over the island.

HOOVER'S

Running a Household is a Business

Is Yours Run on Business Principles?

Wise buying is the first step to success in any business. So is it the first requirement for a household to be well conducted on an economical basis. Big business concerns have purchasing agents who are experts in knowing what, where and when to buy. They study goods and concerns which have goods to sell. They watch the markets. They read carefully the advertisements of concerns in their particular lines.

The manager of a household must be purchasing agent for a large proportion of the family needs. She should be familiar with stores and merchandise. She should run her business on business principles in order to make the most of the family income.

Information is the basis for intelligent purchasing. And the right way to get the greatest amount of necessary information is to read advertisements.

Advertising today is the voice of business. Advertisements tell you what is new and good in merchandise; they reveal improvements and inventions; they give you information about things that are useful and interesting.

Every manager of a household, every person in the household who shares the responsibility for the family's welfare, should make a practice of reading advertisements.

ated at points that will not interfere with the "White Way." The resolution which was presented by the committee and passed by the council provides that all cross pavement signs shall be removed from the district specified unless such signs are anchored only from the buildings and are electrically lighted. The purpose of the resolution is to rid the street of all unsightly obstructions before the post lights are installed.

The matter of supporting the trolley wires at the street intersections was discussed in detail and because of the heavy strain on the wires at these places it is probable that one or more poles may be necessary at the corners. Mr. Jennings went over the plans of the committee in detail and will immediately work out what changes can be made that will not interfere with the operation of the traction line and will not detract from the beauty and uniformity of the proposed post lighting system.

Mr. Carter told the councilmen at recent meeting that practically all of the property owners in the district specified in the improvement resolution had given their consent to having the support wires anchored to the buildings and that the committee did not anticipate any trouble along this score if the plan was believed to be feasible and practicable by the traction company. So far the officials of the interstate company have shown a desire to cooperate with the local committee in the proposed improvement and Mr. Carter feels confident that satisfactory arrangements can be quickly reached. The committee has adopted plans and specifications which provide for an installation of a modern and up-to-date system which will add to the beauty of the city and will be of great service.

Seven blocks were included in the specifications pending before the council. If the present plans are carried out the lighting system will extend on Chestnut street from Third to Bruce street and on Second street from Walnut to Ewing streets. The council has advertised for bids to be received August 27 for the installation of the system. A number of electrical contractors have already secured copies of the specifications and it is expected that from five to ten bids will be filed. The system will probably cost in the neighborhood of $10,000 and the whole cost will be paid by the city in the same manner that street intersections and other public improvements are paid.

SEEKING LOCATION FOR FEEBLE MINDED HOME

State Commission Wants Best Location in Southern Indiana—1000 Acres of Land Required.

Cities and towns and communities of southern Indiana have been invited to present their claims for the proposed Indiana farm colony for the feeble minded to the commission appointed to select the site for the institution. The colony is to be located in southern Indiana and it is likely that the members of the commission will make an inspection tour of this section of the state and will visit this city.

Whether or not Seymour will bid for the institution remains to be determined. Several local persons have been interested in the proposition and the commission will likely be invited to look about for a location here. The commission has announced that sites containing less than one thousand acres will not be considered.

WIFE OF BRAZIL CITY TREASURER LAUDS TRUTONA

Mrs. DeArney Pays Perfect Tonic
Glowing Tribute After Gaining Relief.

Brazil, Ind., Aug. 18—Practically everyone in Brazil knows, likes and esteems Mrs. Anna DeArney, wife of Frank DeArney, Brazil's city treasurer, who lives at 319 Jackson street and many were therefore unusually interested in her recent statement relating her experience with Trutona, the perfect tonic.

"I'd been suffering from a complication of stomach, liver and kidney troubles," Mrs. DeArney said. "I was continually experiencing severe headaches and quite frequently would have pains in my stomach, side and back. I was very restless at night and would have to rest periodically during the day in order to complete my housework. I could eat but little and even then I would suffer bad after effects."

"I haven't had the headache for the past week, since I've taken Trutona. The pains in my stomach have also ceased to bother me and the pains in my back and sides have been greatly relieved. I can eat anything I care for without suffering any bad after effects and I'm able to rest at night too. I know Trutona is a good medicine and I can heartily recommend it to those suffering as I did."

The above statement coming from a woman of Mrs. DeArney's reputation, will do much to convince even the most skeptical that Trutona is really a medicine of unusual merits for the treatment of stomach, bowels and liver troubles, catarrhal complaints and the like.

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Seymour at W. L. Federmann's Drug Store.

I have a car of Aviston Special Flour on hand out of old wheat. This has been tried, having sold one car load, and has proven to be satisfactory. It is guaranteed to be as good a patent flour as there is on the market, no exceptions whatever. I have a full stock of feeds—hominy feed, cracked corn, middlings, bran, horse feed, dairy feed, and all kinds of feed for all purposes. I am in the market for all the wheat, I can get, and will assure a square deal in regard to grades and price. Also rye, oats and corn at the top price. I will be open evenings to receive wheat.

The Magnificent Ambersons

By BOOTH TARKINGTON

COPYRIGHT BY DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY

When Lucy came home the autumn was far enough advanced to smell of burning leaves, and for the annual editorials, in the papers, on the purple haze, the golden branches, the ruddy fruit, and the pleasure of long tramps in the brown forest. George had not heard of her arrival, and he met her, on the afternoon following that event, at the Sharrons', where he had gone in the secret hope that he might hear something about her. Janie Sharon had just begun to tell him that she heard Lucy was expected home soon, after having "a perfectly gorgeous time"—information which George received with no responsive enthusiasm—when Lucy came demurely in, a proper little autumn figure in green and brown.

Her cheeks were flushed and her dark eyes were bright indeed; evidences, as George supposed, of the excitement incidental to the perfectly gorgeous time just concluded; though Janie and Mary Sharon both thought they were the effect of Lucy's having seen George's runabout in front of the house as she came in. George took on color, himself, as he rose and nodded indifferently; and the hot suffusion to which he became subject extended its area to include his neck and ears. Nothing could have made him much more indignant than his consciousness of these symptoms of the icy indifference which it was his purpose not only to show but to feel.

She kissed her cousins, gave George her hand, said "How d'you do," and took a chair beside Janie with a composure which augmented George's indignation.

Don't Prod Your Liver to Action

NR Overcomes Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Quickly. No Griping or Pain. Guaranteed.

The organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination—the stomach, liver and bowels—are closely allied, and the proper action of any of these organs is largely dependent upon the correct functioning of all the others. "Whipping" your liver into action with calomel or forcing your bowels with irritating laxatives or strong cathartics is a great mistake. A better, safer plan is strengthening and toning the whole digestive and eliminative system with Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), which not only brings immediate relief, but genuine and lasting benefit. It acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, improves digestion and assimilation, overcomes biliousness, corrects constipation and quickly relieves sick headache.

Get your system thoroughly cleansed and purified for once; stomach, liver and bowels working together in vigorous harmony, and you will not have to take medicine every day—just take one NR Tablet occasionally to keep your system in good condition and always feel your best. Remember it is easier and cheaper to keep well than it is to get well.

Get a 25c box and try it with the understanding that it must give you greater relief and benefit than any bowel or liver medicine you ever used or no pay. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

"How d'you do?" he said. "I trust that ah—I trust—I do trust—" He stopped, for it seemed to him that the word "trust" sounded idiotic. Then, to cover his awkwardness, he coughed, and even to his own ears his cough was ostentatiously a false one. Lucy sat silent and the two Sharon girls leaned forward, staring at him with strained eyes, their lips tightly compressed; and both were but too easily diagnosed as subject to an agitation which threatened their self-control. He began again.

"I hope you have had a pleasant time. I hope you are well. I hope you are extremely—I hope extremely—extremely—" "I beg your pardon?" Lucy said.

George was never more furious; he felt that he was "making a spectacle of himself;" and no young gentleman in the world was more loath than George Amberson Minafer to look a figure of fun. And while he stood there, undeniably such a figure, with Janie and Mary Sharon threatening to burst at any moment, if laughter were longer denied them, Lucy sat looking at him with her eyebrows delicately lifted in casual, polite inquiry. Her own complete composure was what most galled him.

"Nothing of the slightest importance," he managed to say. "I was just leaving. Good-afternoon." And with long strides he reached the door and hastened through the hall; but before he closed the door he heard from Janie and Mary Sharon the outburst of wild, irrepressible emotion which his performance had inspired.

He drove home in a tumultuous mood, and almost ran down two ladies who were engaged in absorbing conversation at a crossing. They were his Aunt Fanny and Mrs. Johnson; a jerk of the reins at the last instant saved them by a few inches; but their conversation was so interesting that they were unaware of their danger.

George Was Never More Furious.

and did not notice the runabout, nor how close it came to them.

He drove into the Major's stable too fast, the sagacious Pendermoss saving himself from going through a partition by a swerve which splintered a shaft of the runabout and almost threw the driver to the floor. George swore, and then swore again at the fat old darkey, Tom, for giggling at his swearing.

He strode from the stable, crossed the Major's back yard, then passed behind the new houses, on his way home. These structures were now approaching completion, but still in a state of rawness hideous to George—though, for that matter, they were never to be anything except hideous to him.

In this temper he emerged from behind the house nearest his own and, glancing toward the street, saw his mother standing with Eugene Morgan upon the cement path that led to the front gate. She was bareheaded and Eugene held his hat and stick in his hand; evidently he had been calling upon her, and she had come from the house with him, continuing their conversation and delaying their parting.

George stared at them. A hot dislike struck him at the sight of Eugene; and a vague revulsion, like a strange, unpleasant taste in his mouth, came over him as he looked at his mother; her manner was eloquent of so much thought about her companion and of such reliance upon him.

The two began to walk on toward the gate, where they stopped, turning to face each other, and Isabel's glance, passing Eugene, fell upon George. Instantly she smiled and waved her hand to him, while Eugene turned and nodded; but George, standing as in some rigid trance, and staring straight at them, gave these signals of greeting no sign of recognition whatever. Upon this, Isabel called to him, waving her hand again.

"Georgie!" she called, laughing. "Wake up, dear! Georgie, hello!"

George turned away as if he had neither seen nor heard, and stalked into the house by the side door.

ALMOST A SHADOW, AFRAID TO EAT

"My son-in-law was so bad from stomach trouble that he was reduced to almost a shadow and was afraid to eat anything, as all food caused bloating of gas which pressed against his heart, worrying him very much. Our druggist persuaded him to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and in two months he looked fine, can eat anything and works hard every day." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At druggists everywhere.

Asserts New Discovery Brings Blessed Relief To Rose and Hay Fever Sufferers

Can Make It Yourself At Home At Trifling Expense

In spite of all the doubters and scoffers, a man in Kentucky, who changed his annoying and distressing hay fever into less than a mild cold, claims most emphatically that if taken in time hay fever can be conquered or at least made so harmless that it is not even bothersome.

He gave his discovery to scores of other sufferers with the most remarkable results and has recently been prevailed upon to dispense it through pharmacists to all hay fever sufferers who still have faith that nature has provided an effective remedy for this common yet miserable disease.

And best of all this remedy costs almost nothing. Get a one ounce bottle of Mentholized Arcline at any drug store, pour the contents into a pint bottle and fill the pint bottle with water that has been boiled.

Then gargle as directed and twice daily sniff or spray each nostril thoroughly.

That's all there is to it; so simple that a lot of people will say that it can't do the work; but oftentimes simple natural remedies are the best as you will find after using.

If you will make up a pint and use it for a week or ten days you need not be surprised if your unwelcome yearly visitor fails to appear.
